*SPEED GEEKING is an alternative approach to the traditional conference exhibitor hall, which enables conference attendees to view a number of presentations or demos in a short period of time. It allows companies and organizations to develop a short 8 minute presentation to be delivered several times within an hour. The key to SPEED GEEKING is to determine what resources, products or services you want to communicate or show to the audience. At the designated hour, attendee's select the topics they are most interested in hearing within that timeframe to allow for more IN-DEPTH CONVERSATIONS between presenters and attendees.
